I WAS WRONG DEPT.: A couple of weeks ago, we praised the virtues of Southwestern weather and said something like:

"We are fortunate in Central Texas in that most of our precipitation is rain."

Looking out upon the snowy landscape Wednesday morning, the second such Wednesday in succession, we found occasion to wonder about the judgment. Weather, weather, you confound your own nature.

A third consecutive such Wednesday and readers will be getting their paper a day earlier.....

Yoe High's "Chant," student newspaper, included an article concerning a program called "That Was The School That Was."

The YHS National Honor Society put on the skit that compared "Pebbledale High School, a rough and rowdy school, with Yoe High School, a serene, orderly school."

105-105-105

STEP FORWARD - Yoe High School will be surveying the Cameron business community soon on the types of vocations most needed to be filled, a guide to planning for development of new vocational training approaches in YHS. This broadens the scope of the vocational ag program toward realistic needs of youngsters who will not attend college and seek other skills in jobs after graduation.

The rush of new knowledge, both academic and technical, is unbelievable. Surveys indicate that the store of new knowledge has doubled since 1949 and presently is doubling in less than each succeeding decade.

A technical program can improve Cameron's prospects for improving the climate for industry. And the greater demands in clerical, office and other basic skills can be better understood when local needs are better understood. Academic and technical training can gain by offering a basic program to both academically and technically inclined students.

Board Hires Firm To Collect Taxes

In a special meeting of the Cameron School Board last Thursday a collection firm was employed to collect delinquent taxes and a motion to assess Lone Star Gas Company for back taxes was approved.

Jack McCreary, attorney in Austin, was employed by the School Trustees for the purpose of assisting the CISD tax office. The Board stated that while the great majority, about 96 percent of the taxpayers, pay their taxes and pay them on time, every effort must be made to collect from those who do not.

There is presently about $17,000 delinquent taxes for 1963 and prior years, on which collection work will begin immediately. Board officials said about $12,000 of 1964 taxes are past due and taxpayers are urged to pay them before July 1, 1965. At that time these accounts will be released to the collection agency.

Also, presently underway is improvement of records in the tax rolls. School district boundaries are being surveyed and mapped to simplify the problem.

A boundary line survey in January revealed that for 12 years the Lone Star Gas Company has been rendering a portion of their pipeline to the Rockdale School District when the survey shows it lies within the Cameron Independent School District.

According to the school tax assessor-collector's office, taxes on the pipeline from the year 1953 through 1957 was 2.47 miles of pipeline. From 1958 through 1964 the difference in actual mileage was 2.69.

In a split vote of 5-1, the Board voted Thursday to assess Lone Star Gas for the back taxes owed the CISD.

The Board also heard recommendations from the high school instructors and students to acquire standard gym uniforms for the Yoe High girls physical education classes. Action was delayed for further study.

Board officials said the Marak School Trustees, along with the County School Superintendent H. D. Maxwell, will meet with the Board to discuss possible annexation of the Marak School District to the Cameron District at the regular meeting March 11.

Members also discussed the possibility of adding to the present vocational training in the Cameron schools (see related story).

AND HE COULDN'T DRIVE? — Highway Patrolman Derwood Kennedy is happy to report that this totally demolished vehicle did not claim any lives before it wrecked Monday night. Youth Faces Juvenile Action After 120-M.P.H. Chase

By Lois Sapp

After miraculously escaping death, a 14-year old Dallas youth is faced with being handled as a juvenile delinquent for acts committed during his 103 to 120 mile per hour chase with a local law officer Monday night.

In his first experience at driving a car, the youth led a chase with Highway Patrolman Derwood Kennedy that covered about seven miles near and in Cameron. The chase ended when the youth crashed the car into a utility pole behind the city jail.

Officials said the car which he was driving, a 1965 Mustang, was reported stolen from Irving about 1 p.m. Monday. Robert Rundzieher, an insurance man, was owner of the car. The keys had been left in the vehicle as well as valuable items.

Milam County Attorney John B. Henderson Jr. said Wednesday that the youth would be handled as a juvenile delinquent in either Dallas County or Milam County.

"A petition asking the juvenile court to declare him a delinquent child, under the Juvenile Court Act of Texas, will be filed and will set out the facts as to the car theft in Irving and the high speed chase in and near Cameron," Henderson said.

At the time of the auto chase, the youth was wanted in Dallas as a run-away. He had been gone from his home, where he lives with his father, for a week. Officials said his parents are divorced and he is in the custody of his father.

THE CHASE

Highway Patrolman Derwood Kennedy said he first stopped the youth at the intersection of US Hwy. 77 and 150 at 7:15 p.m. to give him a warning for failure to dim his lights.

Kennedy said when he approached the car he noticed the license plates had been taken off and were in the back window. As he walked to the left side of the car, the youth tried to run him down and escaped. Kennedy followed and the chase went through downtown Cameron at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour.

The patrolman said the youth weaved in and out of traffic, narrowly missing several cars and buildings, ran one red light at the intersection of US 190 and 36 at about 90 miles per hour and roared through three stop signs in downtown Cameron. Large dips in the street crossings sent the vehicle high into the air as it traveled down Travis Street before coming to a dead-end street and smashing into the utility pole.

The impact completely demolished the vehicle and sent the pole flying in two pieces. The pole was sheared off near the ground, a middle section lay near the Hearne Hotel and the top part of the pole wedged into a nearby tree.

The youth was taken to St. Edward Hospital where he was listed in serious condition Monday. He suffered a fractured skull and leg fracture. Hospital authorities said Wednesday the youth's condition was improved. His father and a brother were in Cameron Tuesday.

The Goldfarbs plan to remain in Cameron temporarily and will move to Waco in the future where they will be more centrally located for their sales business.

In Cameron the couple have been active in civic life and were members of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

One of the feature attractions of the evening will be "Tibby's" famous Levitation Act in which he will use a volunteer from the audience and suspend in mid-air.

Those who have witnessed his Levitation act state that it alone is worth the price of admission.

4-Inch Snow Drapes Area, 26 Degrees
Forecast Wed. Low

Cameron and Milam County was blanketed with four inches of snow Wednesday morning that turned the area into a winter wonderland.

The unexpected snowfall began melting during the day and the low of 26 forecast for Wednesday night was expected to create ice hazards during the night and early Thursday morning.

Weather observers forecast that a high of 48 degrees would follow Thursday after the low of 26 degrees. No additional moisture was anticipated though weather was to remain cloudy to partly cloudy and cold.

City Water Supt. Alvin Heffert said the four inches of snow would give the area about .4 inches of moisture.

A crowd of 200 Scouts and parents attended the Tejas District Court of Honor Monday night at Simon-George Hall.

Chamber Banquet Set For Tuesday

A large crowd is expected to attend the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet March 9 at Methodist Fellowship Hall. The fete will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the affair will be Morris Frank, noted newspaper columnist for the Houston Chronicle. Frank, who is well known as a humorous after dinner speaker, has been a figure in the newspaper world in Houston for 30 years. He is author of the column titled "The Cabbages and Kings".

Audiences across the country have found Mr. Frank, a Lufkin native, to be interesting and informative as well as a very entertaining speaker," said Mrs. Barbara Smitherman, CoC manager.

Prior to the banquet, a coffee will be held in the new Chamber offices at 108 East 2nd St. The coffee will be held from 5:30 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Forrest Sapp is in charge of the coffee.

Chamber members, their wives, and the public are invited to attend the coffee. Chamber officials said it would be an excellent opportunity to meet with the guest speaker and incoming and outgoing officers.

PAST PRESIDENTS

Those attending will also have an opportunity to look at photos of past Chamber leaders.

"Through the cooperation of B&B Studio and all of our past presidents, a new project has been undertaken to place pictures of past presidents in the Conference Room in the Chamber offices," Mrs. Smitherman said. The project is expected to be completed by March 9 so that the public may view pictures of the Chamber leaders since 1934, the year in which the Cameron Commercial Club became the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

School Vote Gets

Two Candidates Hr's Before Deadline

Two persons have filed as candidates in the Cameron School Board election and three in the City Council race leaving both elections uncontested at press time Wednesday.

Will Vogelsang filed for the April 3 school board election Wednesday morning just hours short of the filing deadline Wednesday at 12 midnight.

The first school board candidate, Coleman Duncum, filed his candidacy with board secretary Forrest Sapp Tuesday.

Saturday Lawrence Zoltz filed for the school election but withdrew the next day after finding a ruling that he could not seek election to both school and city offices. His withdrawal left the race wide open until Tuesday.

Two places are up for election on the school board, that presently are held by board president Niley Smith and appointed board member Bob Wells. Neither have indicated to The Herald if they will seek re-election.

In the City Council race three positions are up for election and two incumbents are seeking re-election.

Councilmen Starrett Hickman and Jimmy Marek filed several weeks ago. Newcomer Lawrence Zoltz had filed for the post presently held by E. L. Wied.

Wied told The Herald Tuesday that he did not contemplate running for re-election. He has served on the City Council for five years.

City Secretary Buddy Fuller said Wednesday that no additional candidates have filed this week for the April 6 election. Deadline for filing is Saturday, March 6, at 12 midnight.

Mrs. Humble Named North Milam Heart Fund Chairman

Mrs. Don Humble has been appointed campaign chairman for the North Milam County Heart Fund, according to Dr. Robert H. Mitchell, Texas Heart Association president of Plainview.

A campaign for the Heart Association will be held in March. Those wishing to volunteer their services to serve on some committee are asked to contact Mrs. Humble.

Heart disease accounts for almost one million deaths in the U.S. annually and last year Milam County had 155 deaths due to heart disease. Another 2,130 countians were afflicted by some form of heart disease.

"Heart disease is the nation's number one killer and I know all people of Milam County will join with us in our effort to combat and conquer this dread disease through the Heart Association program of medical research, professional education and community education," Mrs. Humble said.

Plans are being made for showing educational films to service clubs and the fund raising efforts will be confined to letters.

Committee Views Vocational Needs

Members of a special committee, to study the present vocational training needs in the Cameron schools, met Friday with committee chairman R. T. Adams. Plans to conduct an occupational survey of Cameron businesses to see what vocational needs exist were made by the group.

The survey is to be completed by March 26. At that time the results will be tabulated and by the later part of April the school is expected to have complete information on the proposed program for Cameron.

Robert Nichols, consultant of the Texas Educational Agency for Program Development, Evaluation and Coordination, said after the school receives the needed information it is up to them to select the direction in which they wish to go.

The purpose of the program is to broaden offers for youngsters and channel them in the right direction, Nichols noted.

He related the methods presently underway since the Vocational Act of 1963 at which time $1 million was allotted to expand the vocational program.

'Dos And Don'ts' For Federal Tax

The Cameron Herald will publish below a column of questions and answers on Federal taxes.

The filing period for 1964 income taxes Jan. 1 through April 15 is an appropriate time to answer questions for taxpayers.

The Revenue Act of 1964, in addition to the $11.6 billion tax savings, made several key changes in filing requirements. For instance, the new minimum standard deduction will save 13 million taxpayers an estimated $320 million annually.

The column, provided by the Internal Revenue district office, will answer questions most frequently asked by taxpayers about the new law and other filing requirements.

W - Will the second stage of the new tax cut increase my take-home pay?

A - No it won't. Withholding rates were reduced last year in just one stage compared to the two stage drop in tax rates.

While most taxpayers won't find any change in the size of their paycheck as a result of the 1965 tax reductions, the savings from this cut are still very real.

Tax rates on 1965 individual income drop to a range of 14 percent to 70 percent. The tax rates on income earned last year are 16 percent to 77 percent. Before the tax cut, individual income tax rates started at 20 percent and went up to 91 percent.

Q - Who may use the new minimum standard deduction?

A - Any individual taxpayer may use this provision if he finds it to his advantage. Generally speaking, this provision will benefit low income taxpayers.

Individuals can have income up to $600 and married couples up to $1,000 and have no income tax to pay, thanks to the minimum standard deduction. It is estimated that about 1.5 million people will be freed of tax liability as a result.

Q - I increased my withholding last year to avoid the possibility of owing more tax at year-end. Should I continue my withholding at the same rate for 1965? I've heard it said that last year was a special situation and that additional withholding taken then need not be continued.

A - The answer to this question must be decided by each taxpayer. The law tells you how much MUST be withheld but it is up to each taxpayer to decide whether he wants additional amounts taken out of each paycheck.

The special situation you described last year resulted from the use of two withholding rates, 18 percent and 14 percent, during the year to make the required federal income tax deductions. The combination of these rates only approximated an effective rate of 16 percent, the lowest tax rate for 1964.

To prevent taxpayers from being surprised by additional bills at year-end, we suggested last year that taxpayers make a rough estimate of their 1964 tax liability. By comparing this with how much would be withheld, they could decide whether to have additional amounts withheld or to increase estimated tax payments.

Whether taxpayers who took either of these actions in 1964 want to continue them in 1965 is something they will have to decide based on their 1965 tax situation.

Q - What can I do to speed up my refund?

A - If you haven't filed your return yet, there are some things you can do to help speed up a refund. These consist of checking your return thoroughly before sending it in.

A return that is unsigned, which

Jacksonville Firm Is Low Bidder On

Milano Overpass Job

A contract for 65 miles of construction on U.S. Hwy. 79 in Milam County has been awarded to a Jacksonville firm, it was announced in Austin this week by the State Highway Commission.

M. C. Moore submitted the low bid of $73,199.49 on the project. G.C. and S.P. overpass in Milano will be widened.

The job is expected to take 100 working days, according to C. B. Thames, District Highway Engineer at Bryan. Carol D. Ziegler, Resident Engineer at Hearne will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

lacks a social security number or is minus a W-2 form will have to be completed before it can be processed. The time it takes to contact the taxpayer for the missing information will naturally delay a refund.

If you've already filed your return the best thing you can do is wait patiently. A call to our office will only add to the workload of our employees.

Q - I am filing a joint return with my wife. Do we have to list her social security number on the return even though most of the income we report came from my salary?

A - Your wife's tax account (social security) number should be listed if she has one. Even though she may not work, any separate income she received from stock investments, savings accounts or similar sources makes it necessary for her to have a number.

Banks and corporations are required to report dividend and interest payments to us identified by an account number. The recipients, in this case your wife, are required to list the income they receive from these sources on a return.

Q - I haven't received my W-2 yet from my employer. What should I do?

Q - Employers are required by law to provide their employees with W-2 forms by the end of January. If you have not received your form by now, ask your employer about it.

Most delays in obtaining W-2 forms occur when a person works for more than one employer during the year and has also changed his address. In such case an employer might have difficulty locating a former employee to send him the required form.

In cases where there is more than one employer, it is important to obtain W-2 forms from all of them. This is the only way a taxpayer can be sure of getting credit for the income and employment taxes that were withheld from his paychecks.

A&M To Study

Recreation Needs

By J. D. Moore

Texas A&M University is busy setting up a new organization, a Department of Recreation and Parks, within its College of Agriculture.

The department is part of the college's also-new School of Natural Bio-Sciences recently approved by the Texas Commission on Higher Education. Operation will start this fall.

Other departments in the bio-sciences school are Range Science, formerly the Department of Range and Forestry, and Wildlife Science, formerly the Department of Wildlife Management.

Dr. R. E. Patterson, dean of the College of Agriculture, said the school is a response to changing times in agriculture, agri-business and other segments of the overall economy.

He said the changes have known as multiple land use, meaning that utilization of land for food, fiber, timber and recreation is becoming a must.

The Dean said present outdoor recreation facilities are being outgrown by a rapidly expanding population. An answer to the problem is to utilize more private land for recreation.

"A study by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture of outdoor recreation facilities on farms and ranches shows that the greatest potential for meeting future needs is on the nation's private rural land," Patterson said. "Nearly three-fourths of the U.S. mainland is in private ownership."

Another government survey, he said, has shown that many areas are fortunately more suitable for recreation than for agricultural production.

The Dean added that A&M's Dept. of Recreation and Parks will be aimed directly at the multiple land use philosophy.

Patterson emphasized that this study area is bulging with career opportunities for graduates. Many positions can be found in federal and state parks, municipal parks, private recreational areas, and as directors of recreational facilities for private industry.

Graduates of the department will receive bachelor of science degrees.

Dr. R. C. Potts, assistant director of agricultural instruction, said the curriculum will concentrate on biological and physical resources important to outdoor recreation, and the socio-economic relationships which occur when people use wildland areas for recreation.

First and second-year students will study a broad range of science and humanity courses. From then on, study areas will cover conservation, wildlife, safety education, landscape horticulture, forestry, civil engineering, sociology, psychology, agronomy, wildland recreation park administration, campsite design, recreation development, and landscape construction and maintenance.

Potts said the curriculum versatility is necessary because the field of recreation and parts should be resource-oriented, activity-oriented and people-oriented. On the other hand, it is not so encyclopedic that students learn too little about too much.

Tower Bills Would Reduce NLRB Power
Senator John Tower has introduced two bills designed to reduce the power of the National Labor Relations Board in labor disputes and business practices.
One measure introduced by Sen. Tower would divest from the board its judicial function, transferring unfair labor practice cases to United States District Courts.
The other would forbid NLRB interference when an employer wants to go out of business.
Tower said his bill transferring judicial functions of the NLRB to federal courts "becomes necessary because of abuses by the NLRB in its operation under and interpretation of existing labor law."

"The principle of this bill is not a new one," Tower said in introducing the measure. "It first was put forward by the late Ohio Sen. Robert Taft. Sen. Taft gave this court-jurisdiction idea a back seat in the hope that the National Labor Relations Act would operate satisfactorily without involving the courts."

The judicial role of NLRB has "proven unsatisfactory," said Tower, and, therefore, he proposes that "the second step of Sen. Taft's idea be carried out."

PLANT PECAN TREES
If you plan to plant trees this spring, Texas' state tree, the pecan, might be a wise choice. B. G. Hancock, Extension horticulturist, says pecans are widely adapted, will grow into a stately tree and if properly cared for will produce a fine food crop. A real dual-purpose tree, he says.

Mental Health Committee Studies Prevention Needs

The newly organized Milam County Mental Health Sub-committee discussed the prevention of mental disturbances and the need for community self-help clinics during a meeting at the Farm Bureau office Tuesday.

Members present studied the emphasis put on prevention of mental disturbances by detection and knowing the first signs of emotional disturbances and then accepted the governor's challenge that good mental health, like happiness, must be actively pursued. They set a goal for organization of a sound program of information and education aimed at battling against mental illness.

Sub-committee members placed strong emphasis on the need for community self-help clinics which could be sponsored by local people with available psychiatrists and psychologists, social workers and other mental health personnel.

Child care was another important concern of the group, just as it was at the state level, of officials noted. Ideas on youth understanding of self, maturity and social behavior problems were also discussed.

Arrangements were made to conduct a second meeting April 6 at which time Dr. Crawford, Research Chief of Mental Health available to help give guidance to this newly organized group. Additional members will be appointed to serve on the sub-committee with Rev. Jim Lafferty, Judge and Mrs. Don Humble and Miss Anna Marie Ramke.

COMMITTEE

Twelve established Occupational surveys were started in December, 1964, and about 12 programs have been set up in the state thus far. Another 30 or 40 surveys are presently underway.

The survey will include such areas of occupation as: Health, Agricultural, Distributive, Home Economics, Office, skilled, Technical and Farm and Ranches.

Nichols explained there are 7.5 million drop-outs a year in grades 8 through 11 and although they can't hope to stop drop-outs they hope to offer vocational courses to keep them in school. He noted that only 15 percent of today's students will work at jobs that require college degrees while the other 85 percent will not.

The survey will establish if there is a need. Then there must be 30 students interested in order to start a fulltime unit. One half of the course is paid for by the school itself while the other half is furnished by the government. Instructor's pay is set up on the teachers' pay schedule.

TOWN COOPERATES

When a DE program is set up, the school works in cooperation with business establishments in the area. The course, which is available for juniors and seniors, consists of one period of vocational work at school, three hours of on-the-job training in addition to two solid subjects. The program is accredited for graduation.

If the need is established in Cameron, the local schools could receive a new program for next year, Nichols added.

Regional Policy Conference ...

U.S. Involvement Hopeful, 'State's' Experts Tell Forum

By Frank M. Luecke

(This editor was among some thousand educators, newspapermen, clergy, civic leaders, students and politicians from Texas and five other Southwestern states at Dallas' second Regional Foreign Policy Conference. The first, in 1961, also was sponsored by the Dallas Council on World Affairs and Southern Methodist University in cooperation with the U.S. Department of State.)

The infinite complexity of U.S. diplomacy is enmeshed with new nation self-determination, U.S. national interest and world communist aggression.

Under Secretary George Ball and four experts Saturday drew a picture of international involvement unprecedented in scope for any world power.

While the U.S. seems to have stymied Soviet Russia while its non-payments stymie the United Nations, the great question of Red China, militant against Russia and in Viet Nam, leaves the experts puzzled and tried as ours in their patience.

MUST BE OPTIMIST

"You must be an optimist in this business," Secretary Ball told an overflow crowd at SMU Student Union, "or you can't stay in it."

Earlier in the day, he had been named an honorary citizen of Dallas. "One of the great pieces of unfinished business," he said in opening remarks at the Saturday dinner, "is to get other free, industrialized powers back into the public arena."

"Soviet Russia and Red China are actively competing," he said in a broad evaluation of present government in Russia. "Hopefully, we may see development in the direction of less tension in the world between Soviet Russia and the United States. This depends upon the evolution in the Kremlin. Some progress is being made in this direction."

The Secretary said also that communism remains committed to world domination.

"There is no such thing as an isolated problem in the world," Secretary Ball said.

The State Department's No. 2 man would not elaborate beyond what Secretary Rusk had said in a press conference two days before on U.S. involvement in Viet Nam. Secretary Ball said the United States, because of communist aggression, cannot consider any talks until the aggression stops.

CUBA SEALED OFF

In answer to a question on Cuba's future status, the Secretary noted that the Organization of American States (OAS) has sealed off Cuba to a considerable degree. And he said South American "believes communism has no future in Latin America."

Later, Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. representative to the Council of the OAS, said that 60 per cent fewer free world ships made port calls in Cuba in 1963-64 than in 1962, year of the Cuban Crisis

Other than food and medicines, all Cuban trade with the West has been cut off. This elicited questions as to how "humanitarian" it is to send certain food and medicines when the idea is to squeeze the Cuban economy. It is now knit to Soviet and Red China support, termed by Ambassador Bunker "very expensive" for them.

117 NATIONAL PROBLEMS

Thus, the grassroots forum, one of several in the United States, jointly sponsored by civic groups and educational institutions, showed the heavy responsibilities taken on by U.S. diplomacy in some 117 nations throughout the world.

Perhaps answers of two State Department experts summed up the frustrations of furthering national interest, aiding new-nation development while maintaining good relations with their colonial progenitors, and opposing the two faces of world communism:

Said Fred L. Hadsel, State's director of Inter-African Affairs: "We reflect in our foreign policy what we (Americans) are ourselves."

Said also Joseph J. Sisco, deputy assistant Secretary of State for International Organization Affairs (specialist at the UN): "It is a broader question than whether or not you pay up or get out of the UN."

NEXT WEEK: Reports on these men's discussions of the role of African development and the crisis, as Sisco said, "another crisis, not the first," of Russian and French refusal to pay back dues to the United Nations.

Some Retail Sales Figures . . .

The Herald has received its first computer-written news release, interesting in itself, but the U.S. Department of Commerce trade report was considerably more important.

Milam County had a retail trade volume of $21.3 million in 1963, the reporting year, which was 8 percent higher than the previous reporting year of 1958.

Readers will recall 1958 was the year that Alcoa shut down one-third of its potline production and agriculture was doing relatively well in cotton, cattle and maize.

And in 1963, Alcoa began rehiring at mid-year while a drought was affecting crop production, though cotton exceeded expectations, and cattle prices were better.

It is our surmise that rehiring the last half of 1963 at Alcoa and unexpected cotton production in some quarters combined to create the 8 percent increase. During that five-year period, some migration out of county had occurred and some inflation had increased the number of dollars, but not a great deal.

The Department of Commerce noted also that during the five-year period food sales had decreased 17 percent, indicating a considerable decrease in population. This would substantiate the loss of population.

From 1958 to 1963, retail sales increased 18 percent across the state. What would this mean? It could mean that the surge of Milam growth from Alcoa's arrival was ebbing at the year 1958 while agriculture had a somewhat normal year for the late '50's. From 1950 to 1960 Rockdale gained 90 plus per cent in population and Cameron 11 per cent.

These figures, and others, were provided by 266 retail establishments in Milam County, which also showed:

Retail payroll, excluding proprietors, for 699 jobs was $1.8 million; food sales totaled $4.5 million; eat-and-drink places reported $882,000 in sales; gas stations showed sales of $2.8 million; auto dealers and related establishments showed sales of $5.1 million; general merchandise stores $2.7 million; lumber, farm equipments, hardware and building materials $1.3 million.

The 8 percent increase was good under the circumstances. Had there been no drought and had Alcoa been fully employed in 1963, the increase would have been nearer the state average increase.

An increase of some $1.5 million in retail sales in five years indicates stability, but the gap between our 8 per cent increase and the state average of 17 percent also indicates a need for growth.

Viet Entanglement . . .

Congress rumbles with the debate over Viet-Nam as diplomats behind the scenes quietly arrange for President Johnson's visit to Russia, following Kossygin's recent invitation.

Over the past weekend Secretary of State Rusk announced that negotiation was impossible as long as Red China and Hanoi demand total withdrawal of the U.S. and continue active aggression in South Viet Nam.

Since Russia is sending an undetermined amount of equipment to Hanoi, hoping to sustain influence where Red China so clearly dominates, it is possible that Russia would look with favor on some kind of "statement of condemnation" of the Viet-Nam crisis, forcing her militant Red cousin to consider negotiation rather than unacceptable total U.S. withdrawal.

It would mean elimination of communist buildup south of the 17th Parallel and some kind of truce there. This Red China does not want. But Hanoi might settle for it, knowing that Russia's influence, though supplementary, could prevent absolute takeover of remaining North Viet Nam by Red China. Such happened in North Korea.

The U.S. won't check out and cannot as we honor our commitment.

Connally Fights Youth Corps Pay

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally served notice on the U.S. Labor Department he doesn't like its directive that unskilled high school students in War on Poverty program jobs must be paid more than some of their parents make.

Connally, needled by an unnamed Labor Department official, indignantly denied he is scuttling the new Neighborhood Youth Corps job project. But he made clear he won't approve applications of some 23 local school districts for participation in the program until he is sure they know what they are getting into.

NYC offers part-time jobs (10-15 hours a week) around schools and public agencies to youngsters 16-21 who are on the verge of becoming high school dropouts because of financial difficulties. Federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost and local participating units 10 per cent. But next year the cost will be shared 50-50.

Connally spoke out against the Labor Department ruling that students must be paid $1.25 per hour, the federal minimum wage.

The 23 districts, before ruling was announced, proposed to pay rates ranging from 60 cents to $1.20 an hour. Originally, Labor Department had notified the districts wages "should be a little below the prevailing entry rates for inexperienced workers in similar occupations."

The $1.25 order came out after applications were filed.

"This action," protested Connally, "would place local school districts in the awkward and unrealistic position of paying inexperienced school age students of underprivileged families a rate of pay for casual chores that in many cases would exceed that of adult employees working in the same facility, the average earnings of their own parents, and the wages he himself might reasonably expect to earn in the days immediately following school."

Furthermore, Connally noted, a directly parallel program for potential dropouts among college students administered by Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare pays 75 cents an hour upward.

House of Representatives applauded Connally's stand but specified it did not intend to criticize the President or his War on Poverty program.

COORDINATING BOARD — Gov. Connally's number one project of the session — creation of a powerful 18-member coordinating board to supervise all aspects of higher education in Texas — swept through both houses of the Legislature with the speed of a blue norther.

Legislators who opposed it — and there were only a few — had as much chance of stopping it as they would of forestalling a gathering storm.

After being guided through the House by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, the bill was picked up by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan in the Senate, where it went through without an amendment and was passed on to the governor for signing.

Connally has until Sept. 1 to choose the 18 members of the board. They will replace the Texas Commission on Higher Education and will take on the task of directing all higher education institutions from junior colleges through the university systems.

Board will decide what courses are to be offered by each institution. It was given the most far-reaching authority granted by the Legislature since the Railroad Commission was authorized to grant railroad permits. Present college boards of regents will continue to serve. But they will be responsible to the new overall coordinating board.

Another of the governor's education plans, to replace 12 separate boards of regents which govern the 22 state colleges and universities with three boards of university systems, had not yet been introduced when the coordinating board plan was adopted.

Some legislators feel that the system board plan may have served to lessen the opposition to the coordinating board particularly among representatives from the colleges whose board would be abolished.

PESTICIDE PROTESTED — A cheap poison used against roaches and rats in many homes and in grain storage bins and warehouses can cause loss of hair and mental disturbances, physicians testified in a House committee hearing. In heavy doses, it can kill a person or leave him mentally incompetent, they said.

Doctors appeared at a public health committee hearing on a bill which would outlaw the sale, use or possession of poisons based on thallium compounds.

They said the poison can take effect upon very brief exposures and that its symptoms are hard to diagnose. Some persons have been interned in mental hospitals before the real reason for their illness was discovered, they said. At present there is no known antidote to the poison except time. MEDICAL AID PLANNED — Strategy designed to quickly pass a medical assistance bill as soon as Congress passes its expected new legislation has been announced by Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. He is sponsor of a House bill to extend Kerr-Mills payments to elderly persons not on old-age pensions.

Wilson asked a House committee to report out his bill quickly so it could be passed on the floor and sent to the Senate. A Senate bill will not be considered until the federal legislation is enacted, he said. In this way, the Senate version can authorize participation in the new federal plans and the details can be worked out of the satisfaction of House members in a conference committee.

Old-age pensioners already are eligible for help on their medical bills through the federal-state program.

LIQUOR, RACING HEARINGS — Horse racing and "small bottles" liquor bills are expected to turn out some of the biggest crowds at legislative hearing this month.

Bill by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races will be heard by House State Affairs Committee on March 29.

Edinburg Sen. Jim Bates' bill to permit sale of two-ounce bottles of liquor by restaurants will get hearing before Senate jurisprudence committee on March 16.

San Antonio Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment of his own to legalize horse racing on a local option basis in Bexar, Cameron, Dallas, Hidalgo, Harris, Galveston, Midland, Tarrant and Webb counties.

Only teacher pay raises attract more mail to lawmakers than pari-mutuel wagering and liquor-by-the-drink legislation. This year, there's strong support on, well as opposition to, both propositions.

"SPENDING" RULE ROW — Tightening of a joint House-Senate rule banning consideration of single-purpose spending measures ahead of the general appropriations bill may mean the difference in the type of pay raise teachers get this year.

Senators adopted 22-9 a "compromise" version making the provisions of a stricter House-passed Joint Rule 9-A effective only during the first 120 days of the session. The House is expected to agree.

Opponents say the rule still will prevent even a committee hearing of teacher pay bills until last 20 days of the session — or until the budget is adopted and certified by the comptroller.

Teachers fear the delay will be used to gain support for Connally's long-range, graduated pay bill, which they claim gives them far less than their own $46-a-month across-the-boards raise proposal.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

PHILOSOPHER LOOKS AT LATEST VIET NAM SITUATION, BUT SEES VERY LITTLE

Dear editor:

I would like some information. According to an article I read in a newspaper this morning, and I hope you will answer quick as the situation may be totally changed by tomorrow morning, Gen. Khanh has been removed as head of the South Viet Nam military forces in what the newspapers call a coup and the television announcers call a coo and is being sent to New York as a United Nations observer.

What I would like to know is, is this a reward or a punishment? I had thought that the United Nations was supposed to be watching what went on in Viet Nam, both North and South, but what they have been seeing is hard to understand. You recall the South Vietnamese, having been unable at ground level to understand themselves what they're doing, figured the view would be better from New York?

Or do you figure Gen. Khanh was getting bored with the limited confusion in Viet Nam and figured he could get a broader taste of it in the United Nations? Like going from a sideshow to the main tent?

I'll admit I don't know a thing about what's going on in Viet Nam, but I don't want this to leak out as Washington might want to send me over there as an observer. I've got all the confusion I can handle at home.

And speaking of the United Nations, as I understand it, the U.N. has a rule that if any country is behind two years in its dues, it loses its membership, but is afraid to vote on whether this rule is still in effect on the grounds that if it does, there won't be enough major powers left in the outfit to operate it. This is like a hard-pressed bank declining to call in its past-due loans on the grounds it would alienate its customers.

It's possible that after Gen. Khanh observes the United Nations a while, he may go home and announce all this earth's countries got problems.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Interior Designers

Add To '65 Dallas

Flower-Garden Show

Model rooms by twelve interior designers will provide a new concept in displaying artistic flower arrangements at the 1965 Dallas Flower and Garden Show.

The room settings, all by members of the American Institute of Interior Designers, will be scattered throughout the 80,000 square feet of the Flower Show, and will be surrounded by specially designed model gardens.

Display of the arrangements in the room settings not only will provide an attractive background for the artistic flower arrangements, but also will enhance the room's settings by maintaining in them a changing supply of fresh flowers.

Co-sponsored by the Dallas Garden Center and the State Fair of Texas, the 14th annual festival of flowers will run March 13 through 21 in the World Exhibits Building at State Fair Park in Dallas. Hours will be from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Classes in the competitive artistic arrangements relate to the Flower Show's overall theme, "Wonder of Water." Judging, which is based on design, color, interpretation, and distinction and originality, will be in the following classes: Sculpture of the Sea, Deep Waters, Shoreline Echoes, Rio Grande Bounty, Brookside Beauty, Jewels of the Sea, Water Hues and Water Rhythm.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!

MANKIND ONLY CAN BENEFIT FROM A CHURCH SERVICE

Through the science of crossing bloodlines mankind has been able to produce milk cows that release an amazing flow of milk as compared to that of their ancestors. But science has never produced a cow that can thank her master for the food or the care she has received. Improved though she be, the modern cow could never appreciate attending a service at her master's church or know the inner peace and joy that is the owner's just for the attending. Preceding the services, in the quiet sanctuary of his church man can discard his worries, frustrations and worldly cares and have the space occupied in the mind filled with the peace that passes all understanding. Then from the service proper he may experience a renewal of spiritual guidance, of courage and the will to serve.

Texas A&M Researchers Predict Freeze - Dried Foods In Future

College Station - Tomorrow's housewife may well purchase dry, packaged foods from a shelf, store in the pantry and, when mealtime comes, just add water and a meal is ready - of such foods as scrambled eggs, steak, vegetables and cottage cheeses!

At least that's what researchers at Texas A&M University believe, after experimenting with their new machine - The Freeze-Drier.

This $20,000 machine, manufactured by the American Sterilizer Co., removed practically all the moisture from foods by the process of lyophilization, or freeze-drying.

The product can already be frozen or may be frozen after being placed in a vacuum chamber in the machine. Then the temperature is raised and a vacuum draws the moisture from the product until it is almost completely dry.

The dried product must then be stored in an air-tight container to prevent moisture from entering.

Freeze-dried foods may be cooked or left uncooked. There is little spoilage since few bacteria can live without moisture. To restore to the original condition, one must only add water.

Some Freeze-dried foods, when re-hydrated, taste just as good as before, says T. C. Arrington, creamery superintendent.

"The freeze-drying process is not a novelty. Although it is rather expensive and still in the developmental stage, small commercial operations exist all across the United States, freeze-drying such items as shrimp and vegetables," said Arrington.

Researchers at A&M are experimenting to determine what products can be freeze-dried successfully and practically and at what temperatures it should be done.

Would a man be justified in shooting his wife because she wore curlers at the breakfast table? There are more than 1,000,000 books in the Harvard Law School Library, but not one of them even considers that question.

The reason is that the answer is so obviously "No." There simply is not enough room for argument. A question can become a legal issue only if it is close.

For example, suppose the husband claims that the shooting was accidental ("I didn't know the gun was loaded"), or that he fired in self-defense ("She hit me first with a rolling pin"). Then there are, indeed, legal issues - issues close enough for the lawyers to really argue about.

Is this due to a sheer love of hairsplitting on the part of lawyers? Not at all. Law is like that because life is like that. Anyone who has watched a Little League baseball game knows that it is the "close ones" which start the squabbles and test the mettle of the umpire.

And the world of law is, largely, a world of close ones. It is a world where ifs and maybes abound, and yeses and noes are few and far between. The law, willfully, must provide answers to questions like these:

At what point does "indifference" shade into "mental cruelty"? How much wear and tear is "reasonable"? How fast is "with all deliberate speed"?

When does a man cross the line between "high" and "drunk"? No wonder one harassed judge said that deciding such questions is like deciding "when a young lady gets to be an old maid."

Perhaps the questions are closest of all in the cases that reach the United States Supreme Court. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes once estimated that at least one third of the Court's cases are so close that unanimous decisions are humanly impossible.

So why shouldn't hairs be split in the pursuit of justice? "Truth," said Historian Ernest Renan, "lies in fine distinctions." A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.
